

A word to our esteemed clients . . .

We trust you are all well and keeping safe in these rather turbulent and uncertain days.

We, at Kaplan & Stratton, wish to applaud you for the actions you have taken, and continue to take, individually and/or corporately, to contribute to the measures being employed to contain the spread, and to mitigate the harmful effects, of the global coronavirus pandemic.

In our mutual best interest and sustainable business health, in addition to the survival of society as a whole, this pandemic must be tamed, and rapidly so. Accordingly, we deeply appreciate your partnership in this effort, and your continued association and custom as our valued client.

We believe, not without cause, that together we will all emerge on the other side of the current challenge stronger and more enlightened on how best to maximize on the time and other resources at our disposal.

The circumstances now call upon us all to innovate. And this, not just on the technology front. If the current events are teaching us anything at all, it is the necessity for and special place and value of, human interaction and empathy. With these simple words, our most sincere wish for you is that you will prevail, and indeed prosper, despite these tempestuous headwinds and testing.

Warmest regards,

Fred
